SOLUTIONS :

1. From Maimonides, Laws of Fasts:

“...when a difficulty arises [which affects a community], and the people cry out [to G-d in prayer to save them]...everyone will realize that [the difficulty] occurred because of their evil conduct...This [realization, and their repentance and prayers] will cause the removal of this difficulty from among them.” [9]

My recommendation, as a Noahide (a righteous non-Jew who receives instruction from the Orthodox rabbis), is to seek out the guidance of reliable Orthodox rabbis in order to know what G-d requires of non-Jews and Jews alike. Note: Communist dictatorships murdered >100 million in 20th century. Some very basic survival advice follows; it may be needed if the grid is destroyed. The globalists know very well that few believe their approved news networks anymore and that we'd reject more lockdowns; why not just shut off the power and blame “China”?

2. The method used to grow food in the Garden of Eden has been rediscovered! See Chapter 3 of my free book for more, e.g. 53 sheep on 1.25 acres; 95-99% reduction in watering; beets can be pulled with two fingers; easy weeding that is truly fun; produce that's tender & sweet, not tough & bitter; inveterate haters of a food will love it when it's grown this way and'll ask for more; etc. A nearly crippled person can easily grow food this way.

3. Rocket Mass Heaters consume 1/4th to 1/10th of the fuel of a wood stove and emit 1/1000th of the smoke. See Rocket Mass Heater Builder's Guide (2015) and <http://www.ernieanderson.info/>. There is already a permitting system for RMHs in Portland, OR.

4. Please get a hand pump for your well w/ replacement gaskets.

5. Wayne Keith of DriveOnWood.com gets ~5200 miles/cord of wood in his 1990s-era Dodge Dakota light pickup trucks, and this same pre-WWII technology can be used to run electric generators (DC, please, so you aren't making dirty electricity). All plants (including trees) grow much, much faster with Item 2 (above).

6. The Triple Solar Dehydrator quickly dries enormous amounts of food w/o electricity. <https://permies.com/t/solar-dehydrator>

7. Storage foods: Pemmanic; jerky, w/ lots of dry-rendered beef fat to spread on it like butter; gelatin; unrefined salt; full wheels of raw cheese; lactofermented vegetables; unwashed pastured eggs last many months without refrigeration; dried vegetables & fruit; recently dried beans and grains to be prepared according to WAPF guidelines; real cod liver oil; raw butter; humic&fulvic shale supplements for trace minerals; selenium; B₁₂; magnesium; real vit. C from acerola, amla, etc.; seaweed for iodine; and so on.

8. You should have plenty of firearms and ammunition.

9. The simplest homemade rocket cookstoves consume 1/5th of the fuel of an open fire and emit little smoke; those that make use of chimneys are even better and cost ~$10 to build in ~2015.

10. FermentingSeminar.org teaches real, mold-free, therapeutic-grade lactofermentation, in stark contrast with the multitude of fake recipes online which say an open mason jar will do! Their product site, ProbioticJar.com, includes free Quick Start Guide and Expanded Guide at “How to Ferment” tab (homepage). Whichever varieties you make, this is a wonderful storage food.

11. Canning of vegetable matter produces methanol (wood alcohol), which can cause blindness, color blindness, multiple sclerosis, and more. whilesciencesleeps.com/monte-diet/

12. Composting toilets are a great way to fertilize a fuel hedge, and then the ashes can go to the garden.

13. Pellet boilers are now available. Surely they can be modified to accept wood chunks made by the Keith Chunker (see Item 5).

14. Straw light clay/slipstraw is a building technique that can be added to standard American framing to produce nontoxic, fire-proof, insulated walls and fireproof ceiling insulation. Fast!

15. USA company (crosscutsaw.com) makes new crosscut saws today! Fanno No. 30 bullsaw (USA) also good for one-man use. Chainsaws very dangerous, need gasoline & expertise, make noise, fumes, EMR. Do you want a wound if the grid is down?

16. Keep a suture kit and plenty of raw honey and bandages on hand. Manuka honey is being used for keeping surgical mesh from going septic after it has been placed in the patient. The honey should be raw, because the enzyme-mediated antimicrobial properties are active when it's still raw. Beware honey fraud; much of the honey labeled “raw” has been heated.

17. Realistically, achievement of Items 1-16 should be in the context of a place that you like with people you'll get along with.

18. Please give this to ten people and ask each of them to do the same.

Dictatorships know that they have to build sin into their power structure so that the governed will always deserve tyranny; otherwise, G-d has no reason to allow a dictatorship to continue.

OCTOBER 18th, 2019:

About two months before the breathing illness was announced, Johns Hopkins Center for Health Security hosted a “tabletop” “simulation” of a global coronavirus pandemic, and the players in the exercise included Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, World Economic Forum, and a “former” CIA officer, Officer Haines.

The players at the simulation planned to shut down schools, restrict travel and trade, and use social media/technology companies to reduce the effect of anti-vaccine activists. They even considered “limited internet shut-downs” for the ostensible purpose of quelling panic. [1]

The players at Event 201 appeared to conclude that limited internet shutdowns would not be effective at quelling panic. [1] They also talked about the possibility of government “enforcement actions against fake news”. [1] They appeared not to consider that censorship is unethical and is common in dictatorships like China; instead, they appeared only to concern themselves with the question of whether it would be effective.

One player stated: “I, personally, do not believe that trying to shut things down, in terms of information, is either practical or desirable. And we do have, I think, a couple of strategies that are available to us, one of which is the flood strategy, second of which is relying on informing and equipping trusted sources of information with the facts, so they can then pass that on. But we also need to actually think about a technological answer to this.” [1] Event 201 included mock news segments from a fictional news network, GNN.

The “players” (participants) at Event 201 planned the entire government response to the illness.

LET'S LOOK BACK to 2016:

World Economic Forum, a UN collaborator and Event 201 participant, released its video “8 predictions for the world in the year 2030”. [2] The video included the following statements which were made without correct punctuation as part of the video editing (emphasis added):

1. “You'll own nothing. And you'll be happy”
2. “Whatever you want you'll rent”; “And it'll be delivered by drone”

3. “The US won't be the world's leading superpower”; “A handful of countries will dominate”; “You won't die waiting for an organ donor”; “We won't transplant organs”; “We'll print new ones instead”
4. “You'll eat much less meat”; “An occasional treat, not a staple”; “For the good of the environment and our health”
5. “A billion people will be displaced by climate change”; “We'll have to do a better job at welcoming and integrating refugees”
6. “Polluters will have to pay to emit carbon dioxide”; “There will be a global price on carbon”; “This will help make fossil fuels history”
7. “You could be preparing to go to Mars”; “Scientists will have worked out how to keep you healthy in space”; “The start of a journey to find alien life?”
8. “Western values will have been tested to the breaking point”; “Checks and balances that underpin our democracies must not be forgotten” [2]

Fleshing this out further, WEF published an article [3] which is no longer available on their website. It was called “Welcome To 2030: I Own Nothing, Have No Privacy And Life Has Never Been Better”. The article was republished in Forbes, but there are immodest photographs there, so that article is designated Wife Eyes Only. [4] The article stated that by the year 2030, the government would make everything available for free, including housing and everything else. Even though World Economic Forum calls this “stakeholder capitalism,” it should be clear that it is a high-tech form of Marxism/communism.

LET'S LOOK BACK to 1953:

Bertrand Russell wrote in his 1953 book, The Impact of Science on Society (emphasis added):

“...Scientific societies are as yet in their infancy. It may be worth while to spend a few moments in speculating as to possible future developments of those that are oligarchies.

It is to be expected that advances in physiology and psychology will give governments much more control over individual mentality than they now have even in totalitarian countries. Fichte laid it down that education should aim at destroying free will, so that, after pupils have left school, they shall be incapable, throughout the rest of their lives, of thinking or acting otherwise than as their schoolmasters would have wished. But in his day this was an unattainable ideal; what he regarded as the best system in existence produced Karl Marx. In the future, such failures are not likely to occur where there is dictatorship. Diet, injections and injunctions will combine, from a very early age, to produce the sort of character and the sort of beliefs that the authorities consider desirable, and any serious criticism of the powers that be will become psychologically impossible. Even if all are miserable, all will believe themselves happy, because the government will tell them that they are so... [5]

That quotation from The Impact of Science on Society (1953) really sounds a lot like the 2016 prediction made by the World Economic Forum: “You'll own nothing. And you'll be happy”.

JULY 9th, 2020:

World Economic Forum released its book COVID-19: The Great Reset [6] and explained on its website that the global coronavirus pandemic is providing an opportunity for a great reset of the capitalist economy (translation: the end of capitalism). [7]

When governments agree to shut down/intentionally destroy their own economies in order to get everyone “on the dole”/on welfare/receiving relief checks/receiving stimulus checks from the government, that is communism on an international scale.

Some so-called “fact-checkers” may claim that World Economic Forum doesn't have a goal of eliminating private property ownership. This is a sneaky word-game and shouldn't fool the reader of this tri-fold. To my knowledge, WEF doesn't have a stated goal of eliminating private property ownership, but they did plan the government response to an outbreak of illness, a response in which it became against the rules/virtually illegal to go to work for many, many people. If a nation is economically crushed under lockdowns and governments work to make everything available for “free,” private property ownership can be eliminated without making a law against it. The local “library of things” would supply rentable items, and if nobody could afford to buy anything, capitalism would be banned without passing a single law. Would you ask communists (WEF) and their collaborators (e.g. Gates Foundation) for medical advice?

The article [4] which fleshes out the WEF predictions for the year 2030 very closely resembles Brave New World by Aldous Huxley and 1984 by George Orwell. What was the purpose of being assigned these books in high school as required reading if we would not see that our society has become a spitting image of those dystopian novels right before our eyes?

JULY 2021:

World Economic Forum conducts Cyber Polygon, a simulation of what it calls a “cyber-attack with COVID-like characteristics.” Does that mean the response would be similar? From the video:

“...The only way to stop the exponential propagation of a COVID-like cyber threat is to fully disconnect the millions of vulnerable devices from one another and from the internet. All of this in a matter of days...” [8]

Would such an attack supply a believable opportunity for the “limited internet shutdowns” and “enforcement actions against fake news” that were considered in the course of Event 201? Would it destroy the power grid, making 'rescue' camps (an even greater threat) for starving Americans very plausible?
