OR. STATE REP. RACE 2022

by John H. Hingson IV of Insulting Consulting™

EVERY READER SHOULD BE AWARE THAT THE MAIN PURPOSE OF THIS BOOKLET IS NOT TO GIVE COMPREHENSIVE COVERAGE OF THE RELEVANT TOPICS BUT MERELY TO PROVIDE A CONCISE INTRODUCTION TO SOME BASIC CONCEPTS RELEVANT TO THIS RACE. A MORE COMPLETE STATEMENT OF BELIEFS IS FOUND IN MY BOOK (which is also free in PDF format at my website, www.InsultingConsulting.net).

“Only science which has lost faith in itself must use power instead of reason to convince others.”

INTRODUCTION

In today's America: School has been for dumbing down.
Medicines have been for maiming.
The media has been for telling lies.

AMERICA IS ABOUT G-D, GUNS, AND BUTTER.

TOP PRIORITIES:

- Preserve freedom of religion, freedom of speech, and gun rights;
- Secure complete and unqualified medical freedom and food freedom;
- Shrink government to a non-cancerous size;
- Address the cause of tyranny: teach constituents, with specific examples, that America now has a rogue government only because it turned its back on G-d.

America is a wonderful country. It just isn't a free country anymore. Oregon should not be led by people who assume it's impossible that anyone on the left would seek to take over the world's most prosperous nation from the inside.

Stop Complaining and Run For Office is the name of the helpful presentation by Montana's own Randy Pinocci which inspired me to run for the Oregon State Legislature. Mr. Pinocci is a Public Service Commissioner and was a recent guest speaker at G. Edward Griffin's first Red Pill Expo of 2021. I haven't seen Mr. Pinocci's presentation, but just seeing the name was enough for me to know it is the right time to run, now that my book's finished.

IN 2016, THE CITY OF SAN DIEGO INSTRUCTED ITS CITY WORKERS THAT THE TERM "FOUNDING FATHERS" WAS "BIASED" AND SHOULDN'T BE USED. Thankfully, the ban was quickly overturned. [1] It was only about ten years ago that censorship was regarded, here in America, as one of the worst things about the brutal communist dictatorship which rules China. [2] Now that China has more than 1 million of its own people in concentration camps, we are being told by the government-approved [3] media outlets (FOX_{CIA}; CIANN; NPR, which I call "National Palestinian Radio" because of its anti-Israel bias; NBC_{CIA}; MSNBC_{CIA}; etc.) that censorship is one of the best things about America and/or that our history should be re-written. A dictatorship could happen here, too; it is happening here, and it's time to wake up.

May America turn to G-d, and may G-d bless America!

About "Defund the police":

The "Defund the police" movement seeks to get good officers out of the force. In the chaos that would follow, it is assumed they would be replaced with bad ones that would do anything in order to keep federal funding, including: gun confiscation, forced vaccinations and putting Americans in quarantine camps.

IT IS SIMPLE TO EXPLAIN the entire "Defund the police" movement with two points:

- (1) The first goal is to get good police officers—those that have an instinct to protect their fellow man—out of the force and pave the way for bad officers to replace them, officers who would be willing to attempt gun confiscation raids, forced vaccination strikes and putting Americans in quarantine camps (or rescue camps after a collapse of the power grid).
- (2) The second goal is to federalize the police across the entire country. They believe that if they can get local police to take federal money, they can dictate what those police would do, e.g. gun confiscation, forced vaccinations and putting Americans in camps.

In summary, the "Defund the police" movement is one that is clearly designed to make America into a police state while disguising itself as an anti-racist movement.

MOST SUPPORTERS OF BLACK LIVES MATTER have good intentions and probably aren't aware of the real forces behind the "Defund the police" movement. They probably aren't aware that Patrice Cullors, one of the BLM's three founders, stated, in an interview with someone who favored the Black Lives Matter movement, that she and cofounder Alicia Garza are "trained organizers" and "trained Marxists." [4] For those who don't know, Karl Marx was an extremely prominent communist; for this reason, it is indisputable that Cullors admitted that she and her cofounder were communists. Communist dictatorships killed 100 million people in the 20th century.

The Bureau of Justice Assistance is a federal agency that now purchases body cameras for local law enforcement; it is to be expected that dependence on this money stream would be the sort of mechanism that would be used to incentivize local enforcement of disastrous federal policies. Ultimately, all local police would be federalized (and ultimately internationalized through the U.N.) if the globalist technocrats would have their way, G-d forbid.

I recommend that nobody should support Black Lives Matter, financially or otherwise (regardless of whether they like its name). Anyone in office should oppose that group and should oppose the "Defund the police" movement. If elected, I will oppose both in whatever capacity I'm able to do so. As always, decentralization of power is the general concept to which we should adhere. That is the American way.

About critical race theory (CRT):

CRITICAL RACE THEORY IS THE PUBLIC- OR PRIVATE-SCHOOL INCARNATION OF A MARXIST MOVEMENT. [5] The popularity of CRT is easy to explain. Some people today simply aren't aware that the U.S. government is abusing people of all races, and such people can be trained to believe that unconscious forces of racism are the reason for problems they see. This is explained very well by WAPF staff member Tim Boyd in his summer 2021 review of the DVD Medical Racism: The New Apartheid by RFK, Jr. and others (see sidebar, please).

The government likes to frequently use the strategy called “divide and conquer.” With critical race theory, their goal is to get people fighting about something that is relatively unimportant (that is, much less important than a NAZI-style dictatorship rising in America). If both sides of the CRT debate (“Everything is racist” vs. “No, it's not”) are fighting with each other, they're doing nothing about the greater problem and have already been conquered.

Ben Shapiro says it well when he says that Critical Race Theory “seeks to cudgel you into a white identity where you are responsible for all the evils of the world,” and that “white accountability groups” and “white accountability buddies,” as recommended by The Washington Post, are reminiscent of Maoist confession groups in which people were forced to confess their “sins” against Marxism, e.g. in China and Cambodia. [5] Portland, OR has a very serious Critical Race Theory problem [6]:

“They had teachers actually crying because of their ‘whiteness.’ ”

“...The list of medical abuses coming from governments and medical establishments is long. Minorities are the most common victims. Those who know a little history see the pattern. The pattern doesn't stop there but eventually spreads to everybody, not just minorities. If you are counting on that fabled white privilege, you might want to think again...” [7]

—Tim Boyd, WAPF

CRITICAL RACE THEORY IS A NEW ITERATION OF THE EARLIER CRITICAL THEORY from the Frankfurt School, a Marxist organization. CRT is likely one of the best examples of intolerance in the name of tolerance.

It might appear to the reader (because of the anti-Marxist statements in this booklet) that I'm against communism. That's correct. Murdering over 100 million people (often your own) in the 20th century isn't a good way to win people over to an ideology. But I would clarify further that I'm against collectivism as it has been defined by G. Edward Griffin. Collectivism is the political ideology underlying all totalitarian forms of government, and Mr. Griffin has done an excellent job of showing that fascism, socialism, and communism are identical and indistinguishable from each other. This is why we see that there are many in America concerned about fascism and many concerned about socialism/communism. They're actually both right, to an extent (though I'm making no excuses for the criminal Antifa mobs).

America began as an individualist nation, not a collectivist nation.

"Global warming"/"climate change":

JOEL SALATIN, OWNER OF POLYFACE FARMS IN VIRGINIA and author of many books including Everything I Want to Do is Illegal, has explained that if every American beef rancher changed over from the feedlot model to proper rotational grazing, all of the CO₂ emitted since the dawn of the Industrial Age would be sequestered in less than 10 years. I'm not suggesting that we should make a law that beef has to be raised that way. I recommend, instead, that Americans should vote with their dollars.

Pastured beef is, without question, already in great demand now in 2021. I am not mentioning this topic of carbon sequestration through proper grazing because I personally believe we need to do something to reduce the atmospheric carbon. But I realize that it is possible that not everyone will watch G. Edward Griffin's outstanding 6-DVD series Global Warming | An Inconvenient Lie, and I acknowledge that it is possible that some people might not be willing to entertain the possibility that atmospheric CO₂ levels could be higher with beneficial results. Joel Salatin also explains that a healthy cow pasture is full of methanotrophs, microbes which eat methane. For these reasons, it should be abundantly clear that all of the calculations made by university academics regarding carbon and methane in beef ranching are based on faulty assumptions, i.e. that we should raise beef in concentration camps next to manure lagoons.

Many others corroborate Mr. Salatin's work in the field of atmospheric gases. Allan Savory of Savory Institute even highly regards properly-managed livestock as a force that can reverse desertification; The Weston A. Price Foundation is another big proponent of rotational grazing for all of these purposes; attorney Nicolette Hahn-Niman wrote Defending Beef and covered the carbon sequestration topic in that book; another recent book named Cows Save the Planet goes into this same topic, as well.

Of course, the other staggering problem here—aside from lies peddled by the university system—is the use of military weather modification technology to accentuate otherwise-natural weather events, paving the way for “climate change” legislation. It only requires a very small number of traitors is high levels of government to pull this off; indeed, the spray tankers are very likely capable of remote-control operation and would not even need human pilots for takeoff, landing, or any part of the flight path. (One of the most excellent resources, aside from the 6-DVD series mentioned above, is the documentary Aerosol Crimes (2005) by Clifford Carnicom.) Already 16 years old, this free film is still as relevant today as when it was released, and it makes a great introduction for those who are unfamiliar with the topic.

Global Warming | An Inconvenient Lie (a 6-DVD series at G. Edward Griffin's Reality Zone bookstore) is an excellent intro to: benefits of CO₂/the fact that Earth could use more atmospheric carbon; hijacking of the environmental movement to eliminate private property through UN Agenda 21; ongoing use of military weather modification technologies in our airspace; and more.

Joel Salatin, The Savory Institute, the Weston A. Price Foundation, and the authors of Defending Beef and Cows Save the Planet are good examples of groups that support rotational grazing for sequestration of carbon and methane. Meanwhile, technocrats promote fake laboratory “meat” and highly-estrogenic soy products.

West Coast Fires 2020:

Mr. Dane Wigington of GeoengineeringWatch.org has repeatedly stated that an enforced drought in California has been the effect, in recent years, of the ongoing spray programs. Now, in 2021, it is evident that this part of Oregon has suffered from the same type of problem, apparently with the goal of making our area into a tinder box that would be highly susceptible to the efforts of arsonists like the ones we saw in the fall of 2020 (these acts of arson were blatantly lied about by the so-called local “news” stations, stations which did say and still maintain that arson was not a significant factor).

Arson was “not a significant factor”?

My report 'WEST COAST FIRES 2020' documents some of the abundant local “news” station coverage of specific instances of arson. After I'd gathered about half a dozen examples of such coverage, it became clear that even our local “news” stations (not merely national ones) have been purposefully lying to us.

THOSE WHO IMAGINE A LARGE-SCALE, COVERT SPRAY PROGRAM IS UNLIKELY ARE PROBABLY UNAWARE OF: Project Stormfury (Ben Livingston and colleagues) in the 1960s to modify hurricanes [7a]; Project Popeye in the Vietnam War, which caused ~14” of rain to wash out the Ho Chi Minh Trail; spraying of zinc cadmium sulfide + radioactive particles by U.S. and British militaries (over Norwich, from the top of a low-income housing unit in St. Louis, and in many other places) [7b]; the easily confirmed 1994 Oakville rain incident in Washington (reportedly involved deployment of Pseudomonas fluorescens and Enterobacter cloacae) [7c]; the 1996 USAF document Weather as a Force Multiplier: Owning the Weather in 2025 [7d]; the Welsbach patents [7e]; the work of geoengineers David Keith and Ken Caldeira [7f]; or even the recent and publicly admitted plans for a “SCoPEX” project.

In an era when drones are commonplace, it's not hard to imagine that military technology is four to five decades ahead; it is very reasonable to say spraying could be done without pilots.

THE PLAYBOOKS FOR COMMUNIST REVOLUTION include “...putting to the torch every village, every forest, every field and every barn. The plan is for raging fires from one city to the next...”
—MORE DEADLY THAN WAR, G. Edward Griffin (1968) [8]

“...I said,” Newsome told the host, “if this country doesn't give us what we want, then we will burn down this system and replace it. All right? And I could be speaking...figuratively. I could be speaking literally. It's a matter of interpretation.”...

—Black Lives Matter's New York chapter leader, Hawk Newsome, speaking in an interview (my emphasis in bold) [9]

Solutions:

AS EXPLAINED IN CHAPTER 3 OF MY BOOK, the method that was used to grow food in the Garden of Eden has been rediscovered.

Gone can be the days of tilling, labor-intensive weeding, the need for crop rotation, pest problems, and water problems. Deserts can be reversed with this method and swampy areas can be improved. The efficacy of this method of growing food must be at least 100 times greater than “traditional” methods that involve tilling the soil, organic or otherwise. Trees grow immensely faster with this method of growing food in deep mulch without tilling.

Those who would claim there isn't enough biomass or enough wood on the planet to support the biofuels solutions I recommend for energy either: (1) did not see the film or (2) did not understand it (which would be like meeting an auto mechanic that claims to have never heard of a battery). The truth must be that people who cannot understand the film have had their understanding of this taken away by G-d, for reasons unknown to me.

Wayne Keith of DriveOnWood.com has made efficiency improvements on the historically uncontested, pre-WWII technology of wood gasification and has 1990s-era Dodge Dakota light pickups that get ~5200 miles/cord of wood (this tech also works for electric generators). There is a system of codes and permits in Portland, OR for building Rocket Mass Heaters which consume 1/4th to 1/10th the fuel of a wood stove and emit 1/1000th of the smoke. The self-drafting Triple Solar Dehydrator dries enormous amounts of food without electricity and can be built at home.

Importantly, I don't recommend legislating/mandating these technologies; I just want people in Oregon to know about them and let free market competition do its thing.

As a legislator, I would endeavor to educate my coworkers and constituents about such matters so that there will be no room for illusions about cutting carbon out of the equation, which really means cutting life out of the equation. A band of sinister ones have filled the halls of academia, the legislative bodies, the legacy media, and many or most public and private schools with ideas that mankind must abolish an element central to life: carbon.

The goal is to enslave humanity under carbon taxes and prevent Americans from ever seeing many time-proven, carbon-based solutions/answers that are right before our eyes.

The method used for growing food in the Garden of Eden has been rediscovered. Expect: a 95–99% reduction in watering; weeding that is truly fun and easy; work that a nearly crippled man can do; produce that is tender and sweet rather than tough and bitter; the end of food sensitivities coming into view; no more pest problems.

~5200 miles per cord of wood in trucks equipped with the Keith gasifier.

Rocket Mass Heaters consume 1/4th to 1/10th the fuel of a wood stove, emit 1/1000th of the smoke.

You can choose the “cult of scarcity” or the “G-d of abundance,” to borrow terms from Rabbi Yitzchok Dovid Smith.

NOW THAT WE'RE BEING TOLD MORE STERNLY THAN EVER that the world's running out of everything, there's a good option: turn to G-d and recognize that there's superabundant provision built into Creation. Real “appropriate technology” (not the Wikipedia version) can't be taken away from us; that's why the globalists don't want you to know about it.

Topic 3: KEY TERMINOLOGY

"Leftist" vs. "Liberal":

It is useful to define the key terms "leftist" and "liberal." Here are serviceable definitions.

To Dennis Prager's thinking, leftists are people who just want to crush their enemies. In my view, this means that a leftist is someone who endeavors to build a dictatorship, believing he will be the boot, not the stomped-on face. A leftist endeavors, consciously and purposely, to replace G-d with government. A leftist is evil.

A LIBERAL IS SOMEONE WHO BELIEVES THERE ARE NO LEFTISTS IN AMERICA. He believes that nobody would try taking over the most prosperous nation in the world from the left and from the inside. Sure, China may be a threat, but to the liberal, there are no leftist internal threats and—to his thinking—nobody would dare to manipulate any of his preferred news networks. Unconsciously, the liberal endeavors to replace G-d with government as he supports projects engineered and/or bankrolled by leftists. A major goal of the UN, for instance, is to try to make world domination appear humanitarian. Both the leftist and the liberal work together to build enormous, bloated, cancerous government, but it should be clear which of the two has his hands on the steering wheel and which is wearing the blindfold. I used to wear that blindfold in college; I had life circumstances that woke me up, so now I am an ex-liberal.

Note: I have my doubts that it would be especially useful to go call someone a liberal or a leftist. It might be beneficial to refer people to these definitions.

"Conservative" vs. "Progressive":

Please don't get confused by these two names.

A conservative doesn't aim to go backwards or stay the same; he just wants to oppose efforts to destroy any existing good features of our country. A true conservative does want to "conserve" what is good and, yes, would necessarily oppose critical race theory (CRT) being taught in schools, to the military or to Congress.

PROGRESSIVES DON'T SUPPORT PROGRESS IN ACTUAL FACT, THOUGH MANY TRY. Instead, progressives really support the agenda to make the American government progressively larger and more powerful while making the American progressively smaller and weaker. Nationally, the Republican Party is not conservative; it is leftist. Conservatives have concern that their preferred news sources are manipulated and they seek better ones; they are also willing to converse (talk) with people they disagree with. Conservatives do, in fact, believe in retaining and not destroying what's good about our country.

"Burn it all down" is not a conservative value. Keeping a fire extinguisher in the home is something a conservative would do in case the fire department doesn't arrive fast enough; he would also keep guns in case the police don't arrive fast enough. Working to ban all of the good national holidays (like Mother's Day and Father's Day and the Fourth of July) is not really a conservative value.

"Conspiracy theorist":

IN PREVIOUS GENERATIONS, THE MEDIA WAS FREQUENTLY REFERRED TO AS “THE FOURTH ESTATE” OR EVEN “THE WATCHDOG OF GOVERNMENT.” It was expected that a free and, yes, diverse media, one consisting of private companies, was another feature of our nation providing checks and balances, aside from the division of powers we all learned about in school. Yet today we can see that NPR receives funding from the government [10] and the rest of the media has connections to the CIA. [3]

Canada had a proposal recently to make their media openly government-approved. [11] “What could be wrong with that?” some might ask. Well, the problem with that bad plan is: the media could not be expected to give unbiased reports on the government if it is approved by the government; it would soon degenerate into a propaganda arm of the state, producing work like that of Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister.

In the words of the great political theorist G. Edward Griffin, “conspiracies” have been “the engine of history.” The role of any good journalist, then—and that of any good American—is to be a conspiracy theorist. In a free society, a conspiracy theorist could be laughed at from time to time but would face no opposition. “We're really free here,” his friends might joke. “You won't find anything. But it really is nice to have a watchdog, all the same.” Please jump to Page 20 for a special note on this topic.

Only in a society where totalitarianism is growing or fully dominant could a conspiracy theorist face intolerance. Be a good American; be a real journalist; be a conspiracy theorist.

The term “conspiracy theorist” is sometimes used as a pejorative today. I view it as “a badge of honor,” as one radio host has called it. Conspiracy theorists such as myself have been frequently called “Holocaust deniers.” The truth is that the people of the opposite view are denying with their actions—though not necessarily with their mouths—important lessons of the Holocaust. “That could never happen here,” is their motto.

YOU MIGHT BE A LIBERAL IF... [12]

- You think guns are the cause of violence but you don't think matches are the cause of arson.
- You don't trust ordinary Americans with automatic weapons but you do trust the government with them.
- You keep a fire extinguisher in your house in case the fire department doesn't arrive quickly enough, but you don't keep guns in case the police department doesn't arrive quickly enough.
- You think your neighbor or best friend might be a terrorist (e.g. Y'all-Qaeda) because he likes pickup trucks, barbecues, fireworks, concealed carry, and...the American flag.

Fitness for elected office:

Basic qualifications for a good candidate.

CANDIDATE :

- Believes in G-d and is a conspiracy theorist.
- Defends the U.S. Constitution against domestic and foreign foes.
- Believes that small, limited government is best. Government is not G-d.
- Defends freedom of religion, freedom of speech, health freedom, medical freedom, and food freedom.
- Believes in supporting the police but not in a federalized or globalized police state.
- Defends gun rights, which are good for your health.
- Opposes lockdowns, mandates, and other draconian measures that were implemented, in the name of preventing even one death by coronavirus, by those who do not oppose the murder of babies and who promote lockdowns and mandates in hypocritical contradiction of their own motto "my body, my choice."
- Knows it is uncontroversial that the Gulf of Tonkin Incident (pretext for Vietnam War) never happened/was a false flag event.
- Knows that 9/11 was done by criminal elements of U.S. government.
- Opposes the murder of babies and is disgusted by the recent naming of a Portland, OR abortion clinic after a demon (The Lilith Clinic) and by the fact that the Church of Satan/Satanic Temple considers abortion to be its sacrament. I think they're going to have a serious public relations problem when people learn this.

DO YOU BELIEVE THAT TWO PLANES BROUGHT DOWN THREE ENORMOUS STEEL-FRAME HIGH-RISE BUILDINGS ON 9/11? The chief 9/11 Truth organization is Architects and Engineers for 9/11 Truth. Their first documentary, a grand slam called Blueprint for Truth, would hold up in any courtroom on Earth as absolute proof of controlled demolition of 110-story WTC Towers 1 and 2 and 47-story Building 7. AE911Truth has since made other excellent documentaries to supplement Blueprint for Truth, but their original film would have easily achieved its purpose immediately (launching a new, independent 9/11 investigation) had America known widely about it. In the years since Blueprint for Truth Was released, AE911Truth now also has a study from U Alaska Fairbanks and over 3,500 technical professional petition-signers to their credit.

AE911Truth has generously made their superlative DVD Blueprint For Truth available for free on their YouTube channel. [13] AE911Truth hasn't evaluated the content of this booklet and, unlike Candidate John Hingson IV, doesn't speculate as to the identity of 9/11's real perpetrators (CIA) and merely shows proof of controlled demolition/calls for a real investigation after the fraudulent NIST report.

"Gun Control for Dummies":

SIXTEEN YEARS AGO, HURRICANE KATRINA SHOWED US HOW GUN CONFISCATION CAN HAPPEN TO A LARGE PART OF A CITY if illegal emergency orders are given and cops from extreme, left-leaning states are brought in (because these are literally the only cops that might follow such orders). The graphic above is concerning enough without a backdrop; you could imagine a flooded New Orleans behind the thug or worse: a government uniform on the thug and razor wire fences around the citizen. So even the above graphic, useful as it is, does not adequately depict the level of trouble we would be in if gun control really came to America.

Our country would be one in which only the government and the criminals would have the guns.

The mandatory quarantine centers in Australia, New Zealand, and the UK—not to mention laws on the books for the same in Canada and proposals to do this here in the USA (and a history of the Indian reservation system and internment camps here in the USA for Indians and for Japanese during WWII, i.e. our government has put people in camps before)—should make us think twice about only the government and criminals being armed (a potential recipe for another Holocaust).

Mass Shootings:

When a nation is disarmed, it is much easier to get the people into camps. That's the real reason why the little AR-15 is hated by the government-approved news. All that would be needed is a nation-scale disaster and they would have their seemingly-humanitarian excuse to do on a national level what they did in Hurricane Katrina way back in 2005 (16 years ago): they confiscated all guns in part of New Orleans and took down and injured an innocent lady in the process. [14]

That's really not such a good way to protect Americans from looters.

TODAY, THE AR-15 IS THE MOST DEMONIZED WEAPON IN AMERICA. Yet it is an almost 70-year-old technology, and was originally designed as the civilian version of the M-16. It has been popular for a long time; large numbers of Americans have owned ARs for decades. And some American civilians have what is colloquially known as a “Class 3” license and have fully automatic machine guns, silencers, and the like. Yes, machine guns are legal for civilians.

It is clear that very large numbers of high-capacity semiautomatic and fully automatic rifles have been in the hands of American civilians for decades, a fact which should not be a threat to those who believe in the decentralization of power to use lethal force rather than centralization of such a power in the hand of the state. But this begs the simple question: Why are there suddenly so very many mass shootings today in America?

(My book explains the reasons why. I won't go into that here.)

Around the year 2012, with a large mass shooting in a movie theater in Colorado, it became very clear that a string of frequent mass shootings had begun which has lasted almost ten years. Before this incident, there were some other massacres like the Columbine High School shooting but they were not happening with such great frequency. In previous generations, such events were almost unheard of. When pressed for answers about causation, the government-approved media typically says that violent video games and the supposed phenomenon of imitation/copycat shooters are responsible. Without doubt, the media asserts, these have all been “lone nut” actors and nothing coordinated could possibly be going on. Yes, just as in the area of assassinations, we are told we must always believe unquestioningly—under the threat of much ridicule—that such people have only ever acted alone. Further, all of the government-approved media agrees that new legislation is needed, even though background checks are happening everywhere.

HOME DEFENSE IS IMPORTANT, TOO, AND POLICE DEPARTMENTS KNOW VERY WELL THAT HIGH GUN OWNERSHIP RATES IN A GIVEN AREA REDUCE BREAK-INS AND OTHER DANGEROUS CRIME. When it comes to such crime, the gun control strategy certainly isn't working in Mexico, Chicago, New York City or even the UK—where there was recently a government proposal to GPS track and register all knives [15] and another proposal by the Church of England to put blunt ends on kitchen knives [16] because there have been so many stabbings! One might ask: when would this type of legislation end? It wouldn't! As many have stated, gun control is really about the wolves endeavoring to make a law that cows can't have horns. As others have pointed out:

Critical Race Theorists and those with a notion that America is run by white supremacy, however, do not cover any of these topics at all. These are items which actually might lead a sincere investigator to conclude there may possibly be an element of “white supremacy” or perhaps “First World supremacy,” I might call it, within the U.N. and within U.S. foreign policy; within GAVI, UNICEF and the WHO; possibly within—I believe—Rotary Club, Doctors Without Borders (better referred to as “Doctors Without Boundaries” for their medical informed consent violations), Gates Foundation, and, domestically, the CDC.

WHAT ABOUT WHITE SUPREMACY? National Security Memorandum 200 (NSSM 200) (1974) holds that depopulation should be the U.S. foreign policy in the Third World. Even though this is not an exact quotation, it is not debatable or controversial or contested to say this is a main premise of NSSM 200. [17] The same document also talks about the use of injectable contraceptives both for women and for men. It is worth noting that the use of injectable sterilants for reducing wild horse populations has been around since at least the 1980s if not earlier. In universities in America today, they tell the students there are “too many people in the world” and that people are “animals.” Would it be too great a stretch to suggest that academics, scientists, medical doctors and researchers who believe humans are animals and the world is overpopulated would be willing to present sterilants as medicines? We actually have evidence of this:

It is uncontroversial that the WHO, in the early 1990s, released a document about their development of a temporary sterilant injection composed of hCG conjugated with tetanus vaccine. [18] Not long after this, it was alleged that millions of Filipino women were injected and sterilized with it. There have also been allegations by the Kenya Catholic Doctors Association about wide-ranging use of sterilant injections in Africa. HPV vaccines, under brand names such as Gardasil and Cervarix, have been causing premature menopause in teenage girls in USA. Documentary filmmaker Mikki Willis traveled to India to get evidence he says was previously scrubbed from the internet that possibly 500,000 girls have been sterilized in India with a massive HPV vaccine campaign there. [19] It seems Planned Parenthood has been targeting blacks for abortion. People getting abortions obviously have a choice whether or not they go through with it, but it remains that influences from the government, the schools, and the medical system have been pushing them to do abortions. More blacks are aborted in NYC each year than are born! Predatory philanthropists might be white supremacists, or at least they might be “First World supremacists.”

See Dr. Wallach's book Black Gene Lies: Slave Quarter Cures about use of Blacks as ATM machines by doctors promoting genetic fatalism (all races and groups, e.g. Amish, are targeted this way). Another possible real example of “white supremacy”: the CDC found, as shown by CDC researcher and whistleblower Dr. William Thompson, that black children got autism at much higher rates from the MMR vaccine than other children (aside from the general throw-your-studies-in-the-giant-trash-can-style cover-up Dr. Thompson now warns Americans he was instructed to participate in). [20] I'd say it's really much more than a long shot to call this white supremacy, but thought I'd mention it.

NOT ONLY IS CRITICAL RACE THEORY A BIG DISTRACTION FROM THE GLOBALIST TECHNOCRATS who are running the rising dictatorship in the USA and around the world, but those technocrats are certainly the architects of CRT. CRT is Marxism, and in order to give Marxism a “loving,” “liberal” face, the trick has been to tell people (in essence) that if they aren't Marxists they must be racists. Then, in the name of anti-racism, the CRT movement seeks to destroy the entire country, including all of its history (warts and all).

The basic purpose of the left is to promote intolerance in the name of tolerance.

Clues in the language of the oppressors:

A MERICANS WERE SCOLDED RECENTLY FOR GOING TO BEACHES, UNDER THE OSTENSIBLE ASSERTION THAT THEY MIGHT TRANSMIT A CONTAGIOUS MICROBE. Obviously, the idea of spreading a germ in the open air (and likely, sunlight) in a characteristically windy, salty place is absurd.

But the truth is that Americans actually should be scolded for beachgoing in the way it has frequently been done in recent history. Beaches are surely places where families are ruined; they're also places where families never get started. This is because of sexual promiscuity. Sadly, beaches in America today are often places of brazenness.

Just as with this beach example, we should look into the language of the oppressors for clues as to what we did wrong, because we are getting from the hand of G-d just what we deserve, measure for measure. It is a system of complete fairness, and we are getting a very ugly kind of fairness right now because of turning our backs on G-d as a nation. Now that's a wake-up call!

As a Noahide, a righteous non-Jew who receives instruction from the Orthodox rabbis (I was a Christian until I read Rabbi Tovia Singer's outstanding two-volume book), I believe that the most significant article ever written so far on the matter of the coronavirus is Rav Eliyahu Brog: COVID Crisis - Middah Kineged Middah Of How We Persecuted Our Unvaccinated Brethren [21] (and I've collected about 170 pages of notes and links about the coronavirus). Rabbi Brog shows in the article that middah kineged middah (measure for measure) is the governing principle for how things are happening to us during the coronavirus outbreak (and he shows that it is the lens through which we should look in order to find out what we should correct in our own ways).

Another example of clues within “the language of the oppressors” (a subcategory of this measure-for-measure concept) is the term “super-spreader event.” Realistically, the comparison between the metzarah (“leper”) in the Chumash (five books of Moses) and the behavior of nations during the outbreak is striking. Rabbi Brog and many others have noticed: the metzarah had to cover his face, call out “contaminated, contaminated!” and dwell in isolation. This was because of his sin of gossip.

Guarding the tongue, as taught in Orthodox Judaism, is a beautiful practice. But those who do not follow it are being told by their government that they are super-spreaders. The reality is that parties can be “super-spreader events”: for gossip (and unlike slander, gossip is 100 percent true)! Note: I think WAPF has shown the real physical cause of the breathing illness in their latest book.

“Middah kineged middah” (measure for measure) is how G-d may deal with mankind in “punishments” that are visited in this world. Those who are in error would say that we should assume events in our lives happen at random (which would imply cruelty on the part of the Creator). We must embrace the sin theory of dictatorship: If there is a rogue government here in America (and there is!) it is because of the sins of the nation; America simply became deserving of bad government and has it. Specific clues can be found in the specific bad events we are dealing with. The language of the oppressors is not coincidental and even incorporates clues as to what we must do, as a nation, to repair our actions.

Even the best leader is no guarantee:

President Trump's promise to set RFK, Jr. as head of a vaccine safety commission—a move that would have wiped out that criminal industry overnight—didn't materialize because our country didn't deserve it. Some might be inclined to blame President Trump for this or for taking advice from NIH, WHO, CDC, FDA...they might as well blame themselves. Even the heart of the most righteous leader will be manipulated by G-d, turned to do harm to his nation if it is deserving of this sort of treachery. Worse still, if a nation deserves truly bad leadership, it will have it. Secular political activism efforts have utterly failed.

KING DAVID, THE SAME DAVID WHO KILLED GOLIATH, HAD HIS FREE WILL TAMPERED WITH BY G-D, ON ACCOUNT OF THE SINS OF THE NATION OF ISRAEL. This should be a great shock to those who know that King David was the most righteous King of Israel, against which all of the other righteous kings of Israel were measured.

I believe that President Trump's decisions are largely based on the level of righteousness of the nation he is leading. If this is true, it would mean that he isn't to be considered accountable for at least a couple of things he has been doing or has omitted: he said, either at the beginning of his presidency or immediately before it, that RFK, Jr. would be head of a vaccine safety commission but hasn't done that, and he has been taking medical advice from all the wrong people (NIH, WHO, CDC, FDA etc. etc.). Some might be inclined to blame President Trump for this sort of thing, but they might as well blame themselves. King David, the most righteous king, against which all of the other kings of Israel were measured, was provoked by G-d [22] to take a census of the Jewish people because they were sinning. Ultimately a plague broke out because of this, and King David blamed himself, not knowing that he had been incited to do this. As it says in Proverbs 21:

||¹Like streams of water is the heart of a king in the hand
|| of HASHEM, wherever He wishes, so He directs it.*

And the footnote (*) in the ArtScroll Tanach, Stone Edition:

|21:1. Because a king's choices affect so many people, God may intervene to direct them, as a farmer might direct the flow of a stream to irrigate his fields. [23]

If Oregonians want to vote for me, that's great. But without repentance, they won't get much openly-revealed good, even out of the best leader! ∞

THE SOLUTION:

From Maimonides, Laws of Fasts:

“...when a difficulty arises [which affects a community], and the people cry out [to G-d in prayer to save them]...everyone will realize that [the difficulty] occurred because of their evil conduct...This [realization, and their repentance and prayers] will cause the removal of this difficulty from among them.” [24]

But should the People of America, once become capable of that deep <[...]> simulation towards one another and towards foreign nations, which assumes the Language of Justice and moderation while it is practicing Iniquity and Extravagance; and displays in the most captivating manner the charming Pictures of Candour frankness & sincerity while it is rioting in rapine and Insolence: this Country will be the most miserable Habitation in the World. Because We have no Government armed with Power capable of contending with human Passions unbridled by <[...]> morality and Religion. Avarice, Ambition <and> Revenge or Galantry, would break the strongest Cords of our Constitution as a Whale goes through a Net. Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious People. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other...

—from John Adams to Massachusetts Militia, October 11th, 1798 [25]

AS IT TURNS OUT, there are very large numbers of people out there who are doing great political activism work. As should be very obvious by now, their great efforts are largely an unqualified failure. The missing ingredient is repentance. An unrighteous nation will be oppressed, I believe, even if it continues to do very nice secular activism efforts. But a righteous nation—a nation that is forgiven by G-d for its past, a nation that has turned back to the one true G-d of Israel—I believe, will have...

THIS BOOKLET IS INTENDED TO BE A REPLACEMENT for medical advice; allopathic medical dictatorship/legally-protected allopathic monopoly must be replaced.

The author is free to make such statements and free to use the words 'cure,' 'prevent,' 'treat,' 'mitigate,' and 'diagnose' in any capacity without fear of imprisonment because:

- (1) He does not have a license (i.e. MD, ND, DO, etc.) in the health care profession;
- (2) He does not sell dietary supplements;
- (3) This booklet (and each future update thereof) is free in electronic format;
- (4) Most importantly: the one true G-d must surely be protecting the author—otherwise he would have been destroyed a long time ago!

Therefore, no state medical board can strip the author of a medical license that he does not have and the FDA and FTC cannot launch lawsuits against the author to continue to protect that which has been a long-standing monopoly: allopathic 'medicine'. At this time it seems that any credentialed health care professional or salesman of supplements or books would—bravely—be risking imprisonment by using the “five forbidden words” to describe a non-drug; this should be concerning to anyone who thinks the First Amendment of the US Constitution is important.

Thank you for reading! Now take action!

—John

EXTRAS:

Could socialism be against the Tanach (the Jewish Bible)? Ben Shapiro has explained that socialism is theft people vote for. Private charity is obviously the right answer. We see in Proverbs 14:

||³⁴Charity will uplift a nation, but the kindness of regimes* is a sin.

And the footnote (*) in the ArtScroll Tanach Stone Edition:

|14:34. Regimes that rob from one group in order to dispense “kindness” to others (Rashi).
|[26]

The damage from microwave-transmitting communications technologies, e.g. mass die-offs of birds and bugs, [27] is being blamed on “global warming,” and the same is true for oceanic dead zones caused by dams choking off the mineral supply for the oceans [28] (and also doubtless by poisonous chemicals and agrochemicals leaking into the oceans): they're being blamed on “global warming.” Meanwhile, whales have been getting sunburned [29,30,31] because of the great holes in the ozone layer the local weatherman isn't telling you about [32], holes which aren't caused by CFCs in spray cans but “geoengineering” (really weather modification) aerosols deployed from spray tanker jets.

MODESTY KEY for REFERENCE-CHECKERS

If there is no mark in bold font on a reference, it may be assumed that it is probably still safe for a religious man to view in Brave Browser. Don't use anything less.

I recommend using Brave Browser as default (bookmarks + settings are easily imported from others)—it's even able to block advertisements in the sidebar of the YouTube, which have been nearly pornographic.

I've heard that TAG and NetSpark are used by Orthodox Jews as blocking software and plan on trying one.

[TB] = please view in Tor Browser, which appears to block a larger number of advertisements

[WARNING: Immodest material; Wife Eyes Only] = please have your wife (or other suitable family member) copy and paste the text of the article into an office software document so that you can read it without viewing immodest advertisements that might display in any known internet browser. Note: All articles from Natural News (a useful website) are suspect in terms of modesty.

Special Note on Conspiracy Theorizing:

A reviewer of an earlier draft of this booklet correctly pointed out that conspiracy theorizing, as promoted in this booklet, might lead the reader to wrongly assume that the author believes in every conspiracy theory. Actually, there are some conspiracy theories which are not true. I have concluded, for example, that the Protocols of the Elders of Zion theory is not a truthful one. NWO is obviously a truthful one.

Special Note on Voting:

Voting for "the lesser of two evils" is a strategy that has led many to vote for a socialist Republican rather than a brazenly communist Democrat. Don't do this.
